Revised 2/2009

Veterans Education

The Montgomery GI Bill provides a program of educational benefits for eligible individuals to be used while on active duty or after military separation. Most, but not all, educational, vocational and on-the-job training, are approved for veterans benefits.

The GI Bill can be used only on approved programs. Every state has a State Approving Authority, and in New York, the approving authority is the Bureau of Veterans Education, which approves programs of education, vocational programs, apprenticeship, and on-the-job training (OJT).

If a veteran has a question whether a specific program or course is approved for enrollment under the GI Bill, he or she can contact at Bureau of Veterans Education at:
