Instructor Certification Requirements & Expectations

A Youth Mental Health First Aid Instructor is a person who is certified to teach the MHFA-USA 8-hour community course to members of the general public. The following outlines the certification process, certification maintenance, and privileges for Mental Health First Aid Instructors.

Instructor Training

The YMHFA Instructor training is held over five days and is taught by two authorized YMHFA trainers connected to at least one of the Youth Mental Health First Aid – USA Authorities. During the training, each participant will present an assigned portion of the YMHFA course to the group. Trainers will conduct an individual evaluation of each participant in addition to the peer feedback provided. Participants are expected to be active in providing peer reviews on days three, four and five. In addition to the presentation, each participant must complete and pass a written exam prior to the end of the training. Each of the above items determines whether or not an individual is granted certification to teach the YMHFA course.

It is not guaranteed that all participants who attend the instructor training will achieve certification. Certification applies to the core Youth Mental Health First Aid course only; Additional training is required for individuals to become certified to teach the core Adult Mental Health First Aid course.

Certification Maintenance

To maintain certification, each YMHFA-USA Instructor is required to:

- Teach at least three Youth MHFA 8-hour courses per year.
- Present the current program in accordance with the course outline, objectives and key messages, and materials provided upon certification: While instructors should add local resources, contact information and examples, they cannot otherwise alter course materials in delivering MHFA to public audiences. MHFA-USA welcomes any questions or concerns relating to the fidelity of the program in community presentations.
- Collect evaluations from each course participant to whom a certificate is issued. In order to standardize evaluations nationwide, instructors must use the standard course evaluation form provided in the teaching kit and on the Technical Assistance site.
- Report this evaluation information to MHFA-USA to ensure you are delivering the program on a regular basis, maintaining acceptable evaluations from participants, and to help evaluate how the program is received nationwide.
- Respect the privacy of course participants, colleagues and others, including the responsibility to protect personal information when gathering information on registration forms or in submitting evaluations; or in gaining permission prior to sharing personal stories or experiences of others.

Once certified, instructors are granted access to a variety of materials designed to help develop and present the program, including:

- Registration on the Instructor Technical Assistance Website: Allows access to program materials and resources needed to teach and promote the course, including course PowerPoint, handouts & exercises, evaluation forms, certificate template, and a variety of marketing and business development templates.
- Enrollment in the MHFA-USA Listserve: Instructors nationwide can connect, discuss MHFA-related questions, and share news about developments in your community.
- Listing on the Public “Mental Health First Aid” Website: Advertise courses & let the public know you are authorized to provide the program.
- Access to Continuing Technical Assistance from MHFA - USA: Any further questions, comments, or concerns relating to the delivery or development of the course, we are available to speak with instructors directly or to connect with other instructors who may have a shared interest or specialty.

ATTESTATION

The ability to effectively deliver Mental Health First Aid nationwide is dependent on the quality of the instructors and their dedication to and enthusiasm for the program. The Youth MHFA course may only be taught by certified Youth MHFA instructors, who participate in a rigorous process to ensure the highest standard is maintained & their role as an instructor is clearly defined. As such, this application packet is designed to both let us learn about your plan & for you to learn about how instructors fit into ours as part of the larger vision for Mental Health First Aid in the US, so we expect you will give it careful attention.

SELECTION CRITERIA

Youth MHFA instructor applicants are expected to come to the instructor training with an extensive knowledge of mental health (personal or professional) and to possess teaching skills or related training experience.

Each Youth MHFA instructor must have the mental health knowledge and experience to be able to facilitate discussions and answer questions within the key messages of the 8-hour course, and can identify mental health services within their state and community. In their responses to the above questions, applications should highlight any experience of participants related to the instruction of adult populations, the ability to effectively facilitate diverse groups, and the competency/flexibility to create and maintain a positive learning environment.

Both agency or corporate employees and independent individuals may become certified to deliver the Youth MHFA course. In either situation, outlining a plan for teaching the course, and one's experience in reaching community partners, must be included in the application via responses to the above questions. Individuals applying to become YMHFA-USA Instructors under the affiliation of their employer or otherwise as part of an organization must acquire a signature from one member of senior leadership in their organization on this form.

One aim of Youth MHFA is to reduce the discrimination surrounding mental health problems. The curriculum is also specifically designed to promote the recovery/resiliency paradigm. Instructors must exhibit positive attitudes towards individuals with mental illnesses and should have enthusiasm to reduce the negative attitudes/discrimination associated with mental illness and addiction disorders.
